

Sri Sisir Kumar Neogi was born on 31st March, 1934 at Islamkati, Khulna, now in Bangladesh. He graduated in Civil Engineering from B. E. College in the year 1956. He breathed his last at 6.45a.m. on 26th January, 2024 at the Calcutta Heart Clinic, Kolkata.

After graduation, he joined Public Health Engineering Directorate of Government of West Bengal and retired from there as Chief Engineer.

After retirement, he jointly with other Public Health Engineers established the Institute of Public Health Engineers (IPHE) at Kolkata and continued as advisor to the institute for a long time.

During his BE College days he was the strength behind the literary magazine "Sahityika" which benefited a lot from his able management

He is survived by his wife and children.